Gulf Coast Prepares For Major Storm

Mobile, Ala. (AP)—Residents along a 300-mile stretch of the Florida and Alabama Gulf coastline busily braced themselves last night for the fury of an approaching hurricane, packing winds of 135-an-hour in its center.

Winds rose and deluging rains, fell as the roaring hurricane, some 200 miles south of Pensacola, drove landward.

Weather Bureau observers said the storm shifted to a north-northeast direction late yesterday, throwing its path more toward the northwest corner of Florida.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said that winds were slowly increasing along the eastern Gulf coast and will continue to increase during the night. They should reach hurricane force in the area from Mobile to St. Marks, Fla., near daybreak.

Highest winds reported so far along the coast were in gusts of 45 miles an hour at Burwood, La., situated at the mouth of the Mississippi River.

With shipping tied up from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the southern tip of Florida, Alabama and Florida National Guardsmen and highway patrolmen were ordered to prepare for a possible disaster.

Beach residents from Mobile to Panama City, Fla., boarded up and evacuated their homes.

Numerous military and naval installations in the area tied down planes and material. Business houses boarded their windows as tides began to rise, flooding Florida coastal sections.

Hurricane force winds were expected to begin buffeting the coast after midnight, with the heaviest blow to come in the early morning hours.

Steady, drizzling rain fell from Mobile to Panama City, with an ominous calm belying the approaching storm.

A Panama City disaster committee—firemen, policemen and public utilities workers—stood by on an emergency basis.

Tyndall Air Force Base, directly in the path of the center of the hurricane, prepared for 100-mile-an-hour winds by 9 a.m. today. The Pensacola Naval Air Station, with its four flying fields, and Brookley Air Force Base at Mobile tightened precautions.

Shrimp boats caught at sea hurried towards shore. The Coast Guard at St. Petersburg, Fla., sent the cutter Nemesis to aid a Tampa shrimp, the Flar Tide, running low on fuel in the wind-lashed Gulf of Mexico.

Three other Tampa shrimp boats were unreported in the southern Gulf off the Mexican coast. It was believed the storm had already passed them.

Much of the Florida peninsula was water-logged. Many rivers and lakes were overflowing.

Typhoons Lash Orient

Tokyo (AP)—A typhoon with winds of more than 90 miles an hour spread death and destruction over Japan's inland sea area yesterday, struck Tokyo a glancing blow today and raised the threat of a major flood to the north.

Men worked all last night sandbagging the banks of the Tone River north of Tokyo to guard against levee breaks such as those in the 1947 typhoon when 1,048 Japanese were drowned.

Snarled communication lines afforded only a fragmentary picture of the storm toll.

The first, incomplete, reports told of 12 dead, scores injured, property damage in the millions and a dozen ships aground, adrift or damaged. One grounded vessel was a 20-ton Japanese minesweeper believed to be carrying salvaged explosives.

It was the second typhoon rampaging in the Orient. One hit the central coast of Indochina. It was believed several hundred were killed and it was known several hundred thousands were homeless. U. S. relief supplies were being flown in.

Ready To Sign Pact

Washington, (AP)—The United States and Spain once again yesterday were reported about ready to sign an agreement giving American naval and air forces defense bases on Spanish soil.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since they were separated by a history-making operation, the Mouton "Siamese" twins are pictured in their adjoining cribs at the Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans. The babies, daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton, of Lafayette, La., are Catherine Anne (left) and Carolyn Anne. Doctors report that they are gaining weight and are in fine shape.

NATO To Spend $1,370,000 Daily For Two Years To Make Ammo For Europe

Paris, (AP)—The North Atlantic Council announced yesterday a plan aimed at spending about $1,370,000 a day during the next two years for making ammunition for Allied armies in Europe.

The United States will help finance the billion dollar program aimed at curing the critical shortage of ammunition in Western Europe, but just how much it will pay is a secret.

Lovell P. Weicker of New York, NATO assistant secretary general, told newsmen that U. S. officials asked NATO not to disclose how much American money would be spent.

A high-ranking American military leader earlier this year said Western Europe had only enough of some kinds of ammunition to fight for three to five days, if war broke out.

The ammunition supply has improved little since then.

Most of the ammunition for Europe's armies comes from the United States.

That's why many of the NATO nations have balked at stockpiling huge quantities of ammunition. It would drain their short dollar supply as well as strain their national defense budgets.

The ammunition project called by Secretary General Lord Ismay "the biggest single program ever presented to the Atlantic alliance"—is intended to get Allied factories in Western Europe to manufacture ammunition and stop depending on the U. S. output.

"It will be financed by the producing countries and by offshore procurement under the United States mutual security program," he said.

The council previously announced two similar projects: one for ships and warplanes and the other for making army equipment.

"The total value of these correlated programs," Ismay said, "now considerably exceeds two billion dollars."

Costly Theft

Law On Labor Relations Must Be Fair, Balanced

—By Sumner H. Slichter
(Professor of Economics at Harvard University.)

Mr. Durkin's resignation from the cabinet because of the Administration's rejection of his proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley Act raises anew the question of what should be done to the act. The intense opposition of the unions to the act has led many people uncritically to accept the view that the defects of the law can be pretty largely eliminated by relaxing some of its curbs on unions.

The Taft-Hartley Act has many defects but fundamentally it is a good law. Its outstanding merit is that it is many-sided. It gives balanced protection to all groups, not only to unions and employees, but to employers, neutrals and the general public as well. In this respect, the Taft-Hartley Act differs from the Wagner Act which only protected unions against employers.

The Taft-Hartley Act gives essentially the same protection to unions as did the Wagner Act but it does much more: it protects workers against the efforts of unions to force them to join organizations they do not wish to join; it protects employers against various bad practices of unions, such as the efforts of one union to force an employer to bargain with it when he is under legal obligation to bargain with a different union; it protects neutrals from being forced to take sides in labor disputes under threat of having their supplies of goods cut off.

In some respects the Taft-Hartley Act goes too far in curbing the activities of unions, and some of Mr. Durkin's recommendations would improve the law. For example, the Act prohibits pre-hiring contracts between unions and employers under which the employer would agree to hire employees through the union and by which the union would be treated as the employees' representative for bargaining. Mr. Durkin would re-

U.S. To Start Bulwarking Of Defenses

Washington (AP)—The National Security Council was reported last night to have decided the rapidly expanding atomic and air power of Russia makes imperative a further bulwarking of North American continental defenses.

But the council believes the defense program can be expanded without an excessively heavy money investment in the first phases, well informed sources said. They also reported that it was not deemed necessary to put the work on a "crash" construction basis.

"Crash" construction is that wherein projects are placed on a rush basis without regard to expense. An emergency is usually deemed to exist.

The Security Council, headed by President Eisenhower himself, is the government's top strategy-policy group.

The decision to step into the new continental defense program with a comparatively modest initial outlay presumably was governed not only by the desire to avoid a sudden sharp expansion of the military budget in the face of the administration's economy program but by a second factor.

Figuring heavily in discussions of what to do about Russia has been a school of thought which contends that, at best, passive defense of the continent can never stop every H-bomb carrying plane that the USSR might launch from getting through to target cities.

This group argues for the retaliatory offensive air fleet, to atom bomb Russia, if she attacks. The existence of such a force must be a deterrent to Russian decision to attempt atomic war, it is argued.

From this has grown the contention that any sudden, broad-scale augmentation of passive defense for the continent would siphon away military funds which now are earmarked for the long-range strategic bomber fleet.

The military-fiscal planners were described as believing the initial step to speed up continental defense should be expansion of the radar warning net designed to provide early warning of approaching bombers through stations in the high latitudes of the arctic as well as stations farther south. These would track enemy craft once they had passed the early warning net.

Of the two major elements of continental defense, radar and planes, radar is the least costly.

Accused Reds Still Silent

New York, (AP)—Two ousted United Nations employees, both Americans, stood past yesterday on their refusal to say whether they ever had Communist connections.

The pair, Frank C. Bancroft, 43, and Mrs. Julia Older Bazer, 43, were fired by the U. N. for their refusal last year to answer questions of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

They refused again yesterday to answer similar questions, although Mrs. Bazer maintained her loyalty in a statement handed out outside the subcommittee hearing room.

The two were among 11 ousted Americans recently granted reinstatement or cash indemnities by a U. N. appeals tribunal. Bancroft won a $12,000 indemnity ruling, and Mrs. Bazer was awarded $27,500.

Two Killed In Airplane Crash

Lansdale, (AP)—Two young men were killed and a companion burned seriously after yesterday in an airplane takeoff crash from a landing strip on a Bucks County farm.

The pilot, his course obscured by fog, ran off the strip and struck a tree. The wreckage burst into flames.

Harvey M. Martin, 21, of Abington, was trapped in the wreckage and burned to death.

Harvey Weir, 25, of Richboro, owner and pilot of the plane, was tossed out, but died later of burns.

Robert E. Platt Jr., 20, of Somerton, was tossed free and injured.

Bennett Attacks County's Handling Of Doe Licenses

An accusation by Pennsylvania's Game Commission executive director that the office of the treasurer of Monroe County was acting contrary to public policy by setting up a "preferred list" of special doe license recipients before the opening of deer hunting season brought a "no comment" from P. N. Rockefeller, county treasurer, last night.

Rockefeller told The Daily Record he had no rebuttal to the statement by Dr. Logan J. Bennett issued earlier in the day. "My name wasn't mentioned in the article," Rockefeller said about Bennett's statement, "and I don't know what he means by 'a preferred list.'"

Dr. Bennett declared the Monroe treasurer's office reserved the 2,250 licenses allocated to the county and that residents of other areas are unable to obtain any.

Rockefeller made public through this newspaper a statement early in August that persons applying for regular hunting licenses could reserve their doe permits by leaving their names at his office. He said yesterday that even those on the list were informed to call at the Courthouse when the issuing date came (Oct. 1).

"In my statement to the people of Monroe County I merely told them to 'get on the list' if they wanted doe licenses," Rockefeller added.

Bennett, in his statement, said information he received indicated when Monroe County residents applied for regular resident permits the treasurer's office here held the doe permits for them.

He said steps would be taken to prevent establishment of "preferred lists" next year, and added he had a number of complaints from hunters who had written to the office of the Monroe County treasurer for information pertaining to the special doe licenses. He said they were informed the county's quota of 2,250 had been exhausted.

Pilot Claims Air Speed Mark Of 737.7 MPH

Tripoli, Libya, (AP)—Britain's Lt. Mike Lithgow claimed the world's air speed record yesterday after clocking his Supermarine jet fighter at an average 737.3 miles an hour in four runs over a 1,864-mile course. The figure has not been officially confirmed.

The U. N. Command argued that a man who has made up his mind and does not want to be interviewed need not listen; that explanations must be conducted in groups of 25 so there is less opportunity of intimidation; and that prisoners should have the right to decide if they want to meet the interviewers more than once.

Caught in the midst of the squabble, the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, which will supervise the interviews, put off at least until next Thursday the start of work, by explanation teams.

All prisoners of both sides are now held in the demilitarized zone under guard of Indian troops. Allied teams will be confronted with a much smaller group—23 Americans, a Briton and 335 South Koreans.

The Repatriations Commission did not make it clear immediately whether the time lost by the postponement would be tacked on to the other end of the 90-day period or merely dropped. Indications were, however, the full 90 days would be allowed.

The 5-nation commission, headed by the Indian delegate as chairman and umpire, has yet to announce the rules which will govern the explanations.

Many of the Chinese prisoners brought to the demilitarized zone had hurried stones at Communist observers and declared they would never return to Red rule. Some even ripped off identification tags and refused to give their names, lest these get back to Red China where the men had relatives.

London, (AP)—The Big Three Western Powers were reported yesterday to be mulling over ideas for a series of far-reaching security pacts for proposal to the Soviet Union.

Informed diplomats said one plan under study but not widely supported would create a demilitarized zone along both sides of the Polish-German border.

Another suggestion was said to be for separate security treaties between the United States and Russia; Britain and Russia; the six-nation European Defense Community (EDC) and Russia. Presumably each signatory nation would be bound to support the other side in the event of an unprovoked attack.

Army Employee Trifle Confused

Fort Lee, Va., (AP)—The postman rang twice and left Mrs. Lillian S. Bealin a trifle confused.

Thursday morning she received a letter saying she's been given a pay raise. She is a civilian employee at the Army base here.

Then, Thursday afternoon, the postman brought her another letter saying she was being fired under a civilian reduction program.

As a puncher, Mrs. Bealin learned yesterday morning she's been named the month's outstanding civilian employee at Fort Lee.

Dispute Over Rules Delays Questioning Of Balking POWs

Panmunjom, (AP)—A dispute over whether more than 22,000 prisoners balking at return to Communism can be forced to listen to "explanations" by the Reds yesterday forced postponement of the operation until next week.

The explanations had been due to start today. Now they will begin next Thursday barring another postponement.

The Communists insisted that the more than 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans refusing repatriation must be compelled to hear the Red teams; that the men must be interviewed individually, and that the interviews may be repeated over a 90-day period.

The U. N. Command argued that a man who has made up his mind and does not want to be interviewed need not listen; that explanations must be conducted in groups of 25 so there is less opportunity of intimidation; and that prisoners should have the right to decide if they want to meet the interviewers more than once.

Parole Violator Killed By FBI

Baltimore, (AP)—A man tentatively identified as John Elgin Johnson, 33-year-old parole violator from Alcatraz, was shot to death in a theater marauding last night after wounding two FBI agents who came to arrest him.

60 Dogs, Dozen Chickens, Six Cats Taken From Home

Scranton, (AP)—A sizable menagerie of dogs, cats and chickens were removed yesterday from a house in Archibald where two men and their sister had lived until taken to the Clark's Summit State Hospital Thursday.

Harry J. Blanken, an agent for the Lackawanna County Humane Society, gave this accounting of the livestock removed from the house:

"Sixty dogs, most of them vicious, and snarling, a half dozen cats and a dozen or so chickens."

He also said the canine population included a litter of six puppies, the only animals in the lot humane society officials believe they can nurse back to health.

Last Thursday, the three human occupants of the house—

Louis Strong Object Of Police Search

A 26-year-old man bolted from the hallway of Monroe County Jail yesterday before he could be committed on a charge of non-support and desertion.

Louis E. Strong, formerly of Stroudsburg, now a resident of Elkhart, Ind., was brought to county jail at 4:15 p. m. by Stroudsburg Police Chief James McConnell.

The man had just appeared before Justice of Peace Herbert G. Bonser to answer desertion charges filed against him by his wife, Ellen, 503 (rear) Sarah St.

Deputy Sheriff Henry McCool was making out papers to commit Strong to the jail. Strong asked to be allowed to use the telephone "to raise bail."

Bonsar had set bail at $500. Strong phoned a couple of numbers. Then, in a loud voice, he said: "I'm going."

McCool looked up just in time to see the man rush through the front door of the jail, streak around the corner of the building.

Deputy McCool yelled for Sheriff Altomero, then took off after the escaping Strong. Stroudsburg borough police joined in the chase.

Strong disappeared from sight in the N. Sixth St. area.

Last night Stroudsburg State Police were called into the case. Strong was still missing early this morning.

Sheriff Altomero and Deputy McCool had checked dozens of "tips" from all over the county. At last report none had turned out to be the "real thing."

Strong is six feet, two inches tall; weighs about 160 pounds; has light complexion, dark hair and was wearing a green and black small-check shirt with brown trousers when he escaped.

He returned here about two weeks ago to visit relatives after living a year and a half in Indiana.

France Seeks To Settle War

United Nations, N. Y., (AP)—France proposed yesterday the Communists and the French attempt to settle the 8-year-old war in Indochina by diplomatic negotiations, either in the Korean peace conference or immediately afterward.

Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in his government's opening speech to the U. N. Assembly, said the object of such negotiations would be to end the aggression in Indochina and make possible a return of more normal conditions of international relations in Asia.

He said hints had appeared that the two outside powers which "inspire and arm the Vietnamese rebels" in Indochina were disposed to consider the opening of negotiations to end that conflict.

Obviously referring to Communist China and the Soviet Union, Schumann said the time had come for those powers to prove the hints were not mere propaganda.

Bible Lesson Topic Listed

The unreliability of matter will be exposed in the Bible Lesson which will be read in Christian Science churches on Sunday, when the subject will be "Matter."

The Golden Text is taken from the prophet Hosea (1:7): "I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will save them: by the Lord their God, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen."

The Scripture to be read includes the following words of Christ Jesus as recorded in the Gospel of St. John (7:24): "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook follows: "Divine Science reverses the false testimony of the material senses, and thus tears away the foundations of error. Hence the enemies between Science and the senses, and the impossibility of attaining perfect understanding till the errors of sense are eliminated."

Rev. Bohner To Speak At Hospital

Rev. Adan Bohner, pastor of the Kunkelton Evangelical Reformed church, will lead the half-hour devotional service from 1:30 to 2 p. m. Sunday in the East Stroudsburg Hospital. Hymn singing, scripture reading, prayer and a brief meditation will feature this service. All patients are invited to attend.

The session will mark the first appearance of two new teachers, Miss Patricia Shoemaker and Miss Alyn Matthews.

Church Services Will Return To Standard Time

Churchgoers are reminded that Daylight Saving Time ends early tomorrow, and hence all church services Sunday will be on Standard Time.

To get back to the "slow time" schedule, turn timepieces back one hour or, as a jeweler might say, ahead 11 hours.

Dr. Wohlson Back From His Vacation

Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson will occupy the pulpit at St. John's Lutheran Church Sunday after his vacation.

His theme for his sermon at 11 a. m. will be "Our Gifts." This subject will be in line with the celebration of Harvest Home which will be observed at this service.

All members of the congregation are requested to take fruits and vegetables, both fresh or canned, cereals, packaged desserts and all things which might be used by the Orphan Home to care for the needs of the orphans and aged that are entrusted to its care.

These articles should be taken to the church not later than 6:30 tonight so that the committee consisting of the members of the Woman's Missionary Society, Mrs. Alvin Shook, president, might arrange them for the service.

The permissible decorations will be sent to the church and all non-permissible articles will be sent to the Lutheran Orphan Home in Germantown, Pa. The Missionary Society has assumed the responsibility of the decorations.

Robert H. Cathart, organist and chorale leader, will play "Our Father in Heaven" as a prelude and the Senior Choir will sing "Thanks Be To Thee" and "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem." William Wohlson will serve as acolyte and Mr. and Mrs. Will will have charge of the nursery.

J. A. Kitchen, Elton Arnt, Arthur Boscard and George Metropoulos Jr. will serve as ushers. The altar flowers will be placed by Mrs. Henry Buck and Frank Sprague as a memorial to a son and wife.

Rev. John Mangum Jr. of Philadelphia, the guest speaker, is serving as associate executive secretary of the Lutheran League of America, official youth organization of the United Lutheran Church.

Dr. David F. Kohn, Mt. Pocono, will be out of town from Oct. 4 to Oct. 25, inclusive. Adv.

BEHIND THE SCENES at New York City's Columbia recording studios are (left to right): Mac Morgan, baritone; Geoffrey O'Hara at the piano and Stroudsburg's own George Graff with a copy of the song, "The Greatest Book I Ever Read" written by Messrs. Graff and O'Hara especially for the 13th annual Bible Week observance, Oct. 19-25.

B. S. Longnecker, a zone leader of the Gideon Society from Reading, Pa., will speak briefly early in the service on the work and purpose behind the Gideon movement.

The Senior Choir will sing "Holy, Holy, Holy." Vernon Imbt will direct.

Beginning next Sunday two identical services of Divine Worship will be held each Sunday morning in the First Presbyterian Church. These services will begin at 8:45 and 11. The early morning service will replace the 7:30 a. m. worship hour.

There comes a time in the lives of most children when they lose interest in purely childish things and their minds turn to the serious side of life.

When that happens, they lay aside their toys, begin to read something besides "story books," listen to the conversation of older people, and take pride in their ability to accomplish things. This is the borderland between childhood and youth.

Parents should recognize these symptoms, and should endeavor to give the child the right slant on life. It is the period when characters are shaped.

What better influence could be desired than that of religion? A knowledge of God, the influence and associations of the Church, the thoughts of great teachers—these are the foundations of character that will stand any test.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Second To None

It is gratifying and reassuring news that Pennsylvania is in the process of perfecting a statewide air raid warning system that will be second to none in the country.

Completion of the system is expected next year, and while we are not to underestimate the effectiveness of the system now in effect, the new raid warning plan will provide the state an up-to-the-minute system such as its importance commands.

The State Civil Defense Council has worked out the plan with the assistance of the Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Co. It will make it possible to alert the state's communities of an impending attack within four seconds after the alert has been received from the Air Force.

We shall continue to hope that it shall never be necessary to sound the alert for any other than practice reasons, but it should be remembered by all people that it is for their protection and should never be ignored.

Reassuring Tax Talk

Whether or not Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey is the greatest of a long line of men who have filled that important position is something for the historians to decide, but that he is presently the most popular must have been apparent to those who heard him tell the delegates to the American Bankers Association that without a shadow of a doubt the end of the year will see income tax decreases of 10 per cent and a complete disappearance of the excess profits tax.

This reassuring talk must have set at rest the minds of many who tried to read into President Eisenhower's Boston speech an inference to the contrary.

The Treasury Secretary spoke without equivocation as he repeated the definite policy of the administration to permit the excess profits tax to expire December 31 with no request for its renewal, while at the same time scheduling into effect an average individual income tax reduction of 10 per cent.

More than that, the Ohio cabinet member gave assurance that no one need worry about a recession caused by surplus industrial capacity or the down turn of government spending. Some adjustment is constantly going on in our great and growing economy, he explained, and there is nothing to shiver about.

All of which is mighty pleasant reading for those millions of us who have been wondering whether or not we would have some more of our hard-earned dollars to spend for our own purposes after 1954 begins, and for those businessmen who are planning expansion with the dollars saved by the elimination of the excess profits tax.

The first President of the United States who was not born a British subject was Martin van Buren, the eighth President.

Musk oxen have provided a vital source of food for Arctic explorers and twice saved the life of Rear Adm. Robert E. Peary, North Pole discoverer.

THE GARBLE SISTERS

The Garble Sisters were just overhead catching up on current events, or nearly so. "I see somebody they Beria over to our side and got that $100,000 reward," said Hazel Garble, whose friends call her "Hazel." "Well, when our side offers that much money for a top Soviet leader it should keep the bargain. Do you think anybody will fly Vishinsky in for the same price?" replied her sister, Dora Garble.

"I understand the Government will raise the offer if anybody will fly Vishinsky over to our side so we can take him apart and find out how he manages to fly sideways and backwards all the time," said Hazel.

"How can we afford to pay such big money for these flights?" asked Dora.

"It all comes out of a $31,000,000 general-purpose fund which makes a jackpot program possible. You can't go into this jackpot business for loss," said Hazel.

"Do you think this Beria is the Beria we want?" asked Dora.

"This is to be decided by a non-partisan committee of both Republican and Democratic senators in the interest of unity, and in case of a tie it goes to Vice-President Nixon and Florence Chadwick."

"Who is Florence Chadwick?" asked Dora.

"She is the new presiding officer of the 1952 General Assembly session, I think," said Hazel.

"How are things going in the General Assembly?" asked Dora.

"All I know is that a Communist named Mr. Nix, who was to represent the Poles, landed in the American delegation and can now be gone over to see if there is anything new in him that we don't have in our delegates."

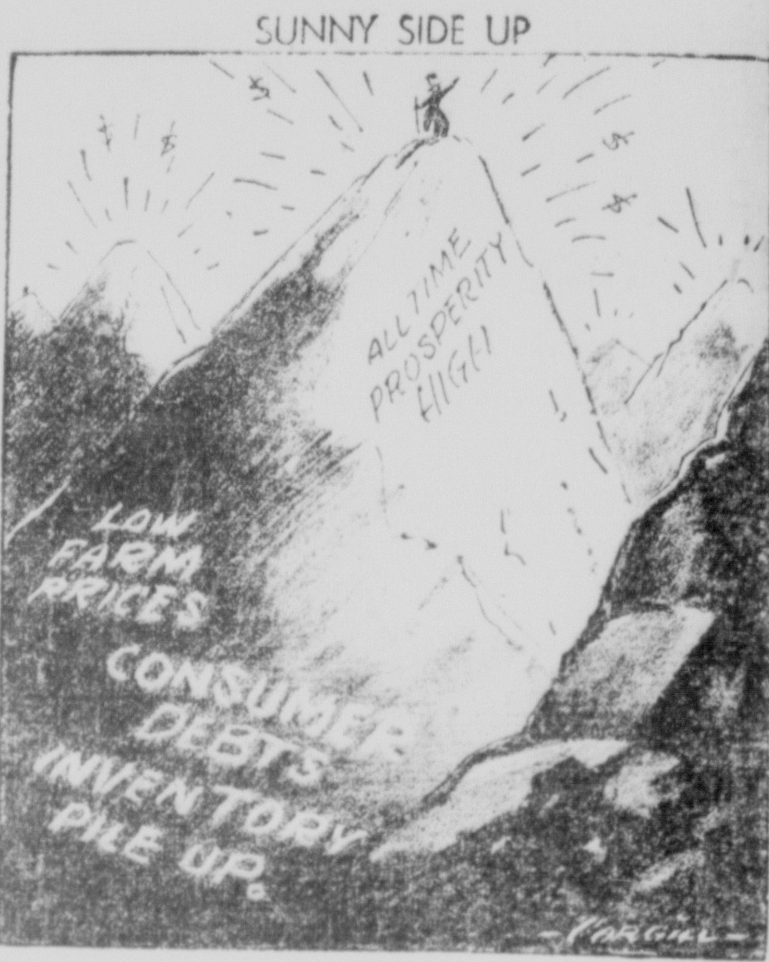

"What ever became of the Korean peace talks?"

"They got sidetracked on account of Ambassador Furell got a cracked metacarpal joint in one hand in a fight with the Indian delegate, Sir Casey Stengel," explained Hazel.

"What about La Starza?"

"He won't pitch the opener unless by a two-thirds vote."

Weather Predictions Are Two Years In Advance

Robert S. Allen is an excellent writer for the editor of one of the oldest publications in the U.S., the Farmers' Almanac, who recently wrote his remarkable weather forecasts are prepared two years in advance.

—by Ray Geiger

Newark, N. J., Sept. 26.—In 1818, the young man Guffey got his inspiration for his famous reader, David Young, an able astronomer, began the Farmers' Almanac.

This was not the first American almanac, for Captain Pierce published one on the first press set up by the Pilgrims in 1639. Nor was it the first to be called Farmers' Almanac, since as early as 1714, N. Whittymor had used this name.

But the Farmers' Almanac that Young started was to become a household word and a guide to peasant living for 136 consecutive years.

The Farmers' Almanac is a 48-page booklet, printed generally on newspaper, in the same style and format since its inception. It is not a textbook on farming, but rather a cultural link with the past.

Blended in its pages are the favor of early America, for almanacs had a position of the highest typographical importance in early literature. No publication except the newspaper illustrates more clearly the history of printing, and since the almanac along with the Bible and Book of Sermons was the only reading matter in most homes, its rules of conduct played a powerful part in molding the character of the people.

Today the Farmers' Almanac has the same wooden illustrations that were carved on boxwood by Alexander Anderson in 1820. Its pages are filled with a wealth of information on every subject.

It gives the principal feast days for almost all religions, the time of the rising and setting of the sun, the phases of the moon, the moment of each eclipse and where it will be visible, the light and dark of the moon. Tide tables, fishing tables, anecdotes, stories, jokes and household hints, as well as poems for all ages, are part of the wealth of good reading that makes it looked for by every member of the family.

Perhaps of most interest to everyone are the weather forecasts.

It is here the Farmers' Almanac shines for its weather predictions are said to be 75 to 80 per cent accurate, even though made up almost two years in advance. This, we believe, is more accurate than those of local weather bureaus.

In the early days the forecast consisted of little notes inserted into the calendar dates such as "possibly snow," "frost may be expected," "look for a cold wind," etc. But today the forecasts are prepared astronomically by Rolland E. Hart who is only the fourth calculator for the Farmers' Almanac in 156 years.

George Sokolsky Says...

Communist Instruction Admits Possible Defeat; Blames FBI For Its Troubles

A document has come into my hands which is a secret instruction to the leaders of the Communist Party of the United States of America and what they should do about it.

One section is entitled, "Defense of Party's Legality: Vital Aspect of Struggle for Democratic Rights." The very first sentence of this section reads:

"The defense of our Party's legality is not, and must not be allowed to become a partisan concern of the Communists..."

In a word, the defense of the Communist Party is to be made a United Front activity; innocent elements are to be dragged into the defense. Further it says:

"The failure of the enemy to conduct the Communist Party defense in seven-year offensive is a tribute to the depth of the democratic sentiments of the American people as well as to the tenacious, full back by the Communist Party and its members. In this respect, the present moment is characterized by the preparation of new blows against the Party on the part of the Eisenhower Administration through continuation of Smith Act indictments, vigorous application of the McCarran Act and growing tendencies to press for the direct outlawing of the Party."

However, the Communists have found ways of defeating all attempts to make them illegal. They admit that they are suffering from "a fatalistic acceptance of the inevitability of the illegalization of the Party," and some of their followers have "liquidationist concepts."

They instruct their members and adherents to labor valiantly for amnesty for the Communist criminals who are now in prison. Already such a movement has made its appearance in a suggestion that those who have been in error should be forgiven—spies, saboteurs, wreckers—all of them should be forgiven. "... We must explore the possibilities of broadening the fight for amnesty to include amnesty for victims of all repressive, anti-democratic legislation including T-1 victims, McCarran-Walter victims, victims of Congressional contempt citations, etc. It is beyond doubt that such an approach, if successful, could open the door to wider approaches to the trade unions, national group organizations, etc."

So, what is to be done?

Members of the party are instructed:

"First of all we must enlist the masses in the fight against FBI harassment, surveillance, intimidation and stool pigeon activity as part and parcel of the fight against the trend toward a police state and McCarthyism..."

"... Because of the Gestapo-like methods of the FBI, the continued exercise of the Party's democratic rights, particularly the ability of its leadership to function, has made necessary a major change in the organization, structure and methods of functioning of the Party and its leadership. But this change... is being accompanied by less political and ideological mobilization of the membership than usually goes along with the most routine Party campaign..."

For the first time in the history of the Communist Party, this instruction admits despairing defeat. And for their troubles, they blame the FBI.

Discussing the trials under the Smith Act, the Communists claim certain gains, particularly the dismissal of the indictments against Simon Gerson and Isidore Begun. Praising some of their members for their great courage in the courtroom, for turning "the prisoners dock into a forum for the militant denunciation of the government's drive to war and Fascism," they, nevertheless, take note of certain weaknesses and shortcomings in the struggle of the party against the Smith Act. Apparently, some of their lawyers wanted to try the cases according to the rules of evidence, which the Communists call "legalist pressures."

The party objects to registering as a foreign agent on these grounds:

"... While the Smith Act prosecutions were directed chiefly at the leadership of the Party, the McCarran decision, if enforced will be directed at the Party as a whole while the Smith Act arrests, especially in the second round, showed a tendency to move over to the attack on leaders of non-Party mass organizations... they were mainly directed against the Party..."

The Communists lay their hopes now in the so-called Liberals. This is what they say:

"... Hence even supporters of the Truman Administration who were passive or neutral in the fight against Smith Act prosecutions can be enlisted in the struggle against application of the McCarran Act, for an end to the prosecutions against those organizations cited; for the Supreme Court acting to throw the McCarran Act citation against the Communist Party out as unconstitutional."

BERIA

The State Dept. said the odds are 100 to 1 that the man claiming to be Beria isn't the Red Intelligence Chief. My information is that it is 1000 to 1 it isn't Beria. Based on the opinion of top Intelligence people, whose reports are unanimous, but whose reasons differ... This is what they say.

Beria was one of the ablest men in the business... He made Admiral Canaris (the Nazi Chief) look like an amateur... Beria knows well that the best escape in the world is a different identity... In his case it would be practically the only one... It is true the Red Radio has been saying it is going to try the "Beria Case," which some experts say means they aren't going to produce him... It is because he is dead... Beria had a great deal to do with the murder of Trotsky... He was a great specialist on murder missions... Not even his Embassies knew when he had a murder team working in a country... If Beria escaped he is under a different name, with a different appearance, hiding in a crowded city, where his appearance wouldn't be noticed... It is unlikely that he would want to make a big international splash because he never was a philosopher or historian like Trotsky... Just a plain hatchet man with a great scientific laboratory and a huge treasury at his disposal... His record shows he was more concerned with keeping his skin than in getting himself a place in history.

Beria had at least two doubles... These stand-ins are perfect likenesses... It is reasonable to suppose he had a third double—who built up an identity for him in a place outside Russia... But if this were so, Beria would be hiding his new role, not shouting that he was outside Russia... Also you can get a double to do anything, except do for you... In a getaway, it would almost have to be double or nothing, and in Washington's view it is nothing.

Beria wouldn't trust his own mother with his life... He knew there was Stalin counter-intelligence right in his own organization... Had he tried to make plans for his own escape he would have had to trust many people, and that would have been his death warrant the day he tried it... Ironically, the first prisoners of any Intelligence Service are its own men... Beria often bragged that there are no secrets... He would never have trusted anyone with a secret that would cost him his life if Stalin or Malenkov heard of it.

Beria knows where to go if he wants to talk business, and he knows what he is worth to the West... If he jumped, he knows where he was landing... He would have gone straight to the top professionals on the other side... Had he been able to come over, it would have been a deeper secret than the H-bomb formula... Intelligence Chiefs can't believe it is Beria because they know that the West's security is better than to let that out of the bag. There is one chance in a million it is Beria.

One J. S. agent—at Operations level—is fascinated by the way he did it, if he did... They have a great Intelligence Academy at Stalingrad and they have developed some terrific things—such as duplication of anybody's fingerprints on rubber gloves, electronic listeners (for safe tumblers) and listening devices which can "focus" on people blocks away... Beria was fascinated with these new inventions and saw that heavy rewards were paid to the scientists who developed them... But he also knew that he had to hide by being commonplace... That means exit on a scheduled airliner or train or by foot... He and Malenkov were in a death struggle for years... He might have had a "previously prepared position" to which he could escape—but that would take a lot of careful planning... Our source can't imagine a big stakes player like Beria risking communication so soon after he was out... He is a diplomatic hot potato... He knows that the first rule of Intelligence is that all neutrals are to be treated as enemies, particularly their policies... If he is in a neutral country, you can bet he is more afraid of their counter-intelligence than Malenkov's shadows... Of course, in this improbable world, anything is possible... The contradiction is that Beria would have to be a genius to escape—and an idiot to broadcast it... He is nearer the former than the latter.

Bacteriologist Warns Against Mass Inoculation Of Children

Declares GG May Reduce Resistance

Harrisburg, Pa. — Mass inoculation of children with gamma globulin may reduce their resistance to infantile paralysis when grown up, a bacteriologist warned here yesterday.

"The mass injection practice this year will not hold down the number of polio cases next year," said Dr. Joseph Py, bacteriology director at the Philadelphia College of Bacteriology.

Dr. Py took part in a symposium on "The Pitfalls of New Medications" before the 53rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association, The parley runs through Sunday.

Gamma globulin is a serum distributed under government supervision. It is administered to household members of persons developing poliomyelitis in an attempt at preventing paralysis.

The serum, if administered on a mass basis, Py said, will prevent a large number of individuals from developing a natural immunity to polio.

"This natural immunity, he said, is what prevents most persons from falling victim to serious forms of infantile paralysis.

"Instead of mass inoculation," Py emphasized, "gamma globulin should be given only to those under 30 who have been exposed to polio."

Children living in the same house with a youngster who comes down with paralytic polio undoubtedly already have the virus in their systems, the bacteriologist explained.

Therefore a child exposed to polio already has begun to get the disease, he added. Administering GG, he said means a temporary immunity from six to eight weeks.

"The disease could simply be postponed until later," Py asserted. He pointed out that not only is the death rate in polio becoming higher but the number of polio cases among adults is increasing.

Some 93 per cent of adults over 40 years of age and living in urban areas are immune to the disease, Py estimated. They have developed vermin a virus infection of the blood and a resulting immunity from future infections.

"Most of us have had a mild form of polio during our lives without being aware of it," Py said.

Two Loot Store Of Narcotics

Seranton, Pa. — Two strangers robbed a Dickson City drug store of a supply of narcotics last night after working a ruse on a woman clerk.

Clerk Ann Mahon said the men entered Shannon's drug store, made a purchase and gave her a $10 bill. While she went upstairs to get change from her father, Miss Mahon said, the two apparently located the drug supplies because when her father entered the store a few moments later they had gone.

John Mahon said he discovered what had happened and chased after the two men who were seen to enter an auto and speed away with a third man at the wheel.

'Your Health'

From The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania and the Monroe County Medical Society

The eyelids are folds of the external skin which envelope and protect the eyeball.

There are many disorders and disturbances of the eyelids.

While some surgical procedures required on the eyelids are among the simplest, others are complicated and call for the utmost skill of an ophthalmologist specializing in plastic surgery.

Small tumors of the eyelid are fairly common.

Operation to remove such tumors used to be a painful affair, but today with proper injections of procaine and adrenalin, as anesthetics, there is practically no pain.

The surgeon makes an incision in the under lid surface and removes the growth by curettage.

Cysts and other growth in the eyelids are removed in much the same manner as small tumors.

The eyelids are subject to both mechanical and chemical injuries and may require extensive plastic surgery.

The delicate skin of the eyelids is sometimes allergic to substances such as nail polish or medicine used in the eye.

There are cases in which the patient is unable to close the eyelids, due to facial paralysis.

Seen in the aged are occasional instances in which the skin of the upper eyelid is excessive and hangs down over the eyelashes, to be easily corrected by removal of excess skin.

Clifford R. Gillam

Gillam Due To Head State Association

Clifford R. Gillam, manager of the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, is in line for the presidency of the Pennsylvania Hotels Association, now in annual session at Pittsburgh.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, Gillam is the only nominee for the presidency for the coming year.

Paul B. Reinhold, president of the Atlas Equipment Co., told the association yesterday that America doesn't have enough highways for the number of cars it is producing.

Reinhold, former president of the American Road Builder's Association, addressed some 250 hotel managers from throughout the state, saying:

"At present we are 40 billion dollars behind in highway construction. This amount has to be expended to bring our highways up to requirements and get rid of bottlenecks.

"In 17 years the number of vehicles will be doubled. We must get busy because we are falling behind month by month."

Four County Properties Change Hands

Transfer of four Monroe County properties was recorded in the Courthouse yesterday.

Chester A. and Minnie F. Coleman, Stroud Township, sold a Middle Smithfield property to Harry S. and Irene V. Fox, of that township.

F. F. Barthold, Inc., Saylorsburg, transferred a Saylorsburg property to Nicholas and Carmel DeCesare, Roeto.

A Mount Pocono borough property was sold by Walter H. and Susan M. Holl, Mount Pocono, to Nancep S. and Suraya Naloff, Englewood, N. J.

Stroud Township tract near Stokes Mill Road was transferred from Rev. Ralph and Ila M. Chatfield, East Stroudsburg, to William F. and Clair K. Witt, Tunkhannock Township.

Paraments To Be Given

New red paraments (pulpit and lectern antependia and altar superfrontal) will be presented on Sunday during the 11 a. m. Harvest Home Service in Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, as a memorial gift to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Walter, of East Stroudsburg RD1, in memory of Mr. Walter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Walter.

Ornate gold appliqued symbolism of the church adorn each parament. Heavy crimson brocade silk of the Agnus Dei pattern are the material of which the new paraments are made. They will be dedicated and received at this service. The liturgical color red is used on all Festival Days and Reformation.

The four grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Miller Sr., of Delaware Water Gap; Larry Albert Wolbert, Gloria Jean Wolbert, Bruce Walter Mosler and Kenneth Scott Miller, will present Pastor Wunder with a new red stole to match the new altar paraments. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will present new red velvet cushions for the altar chairs.

For the first time, the new "concord" technique of scrambling radio beams was used in an all-out drill. Television and FM radio stations went off the air.

Only moments were required to sweep Times Square clear of its teeming thousands as the wail of nearly 600 sirens signaled the alert's beginning.

Buses Pose Problem For Some Pupils

Sciota — Every once in a while Hamilton grade school principal and older students at the new township consolidated school building are called on to perform "rescue" work these days.

Nothing serious. But every so often one of the young pupils makes a mistake and climbs aboard the wrong bus when school is ended for the day.

Still in the process of becoming accustomed to their new consolidation, the pupils have adjusted quickly to other elements of the larger building and new schedules.

The buses, however, most of which are the same color, shape and size, present a problem momentarily.

A new system, announcing arrival of each bus with a certain bell ring, is intended to eliminate the confusion.

Pay Boost Granted By PP&L Co.

Pottsville, Pa. — Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. announced yesterday it has granted an eight-cent-an-hour wage increase, plus increased hospitalization and pension benefits, to 4,000 non-supervisory employees in 28 counties.

P. P. and L. vice president, H. Ferguson said agreement had been reached for a new labor contract, retroactive, to last June 1, with representatives of the Employees Independent Association. The new pact will be submitted to the workers for ratification.

The contract will be effective until May 31, 1955, but can be reopened to discuss wages next May 31.

The total package, the company said, will amount to approximately 12.2 cents per hour.

W. Lloyd Troop, general manager of the union, said the company pay Blue Cross and Blue Shield hospitalization and medical insurance for each employee, provide a $500 life insurance policy for every worker employed six months or longer, and give workers an additional paid holiday.

Exploitation Of Crime Attacked

London, Pa. — A committee of the Methodist Christian Citizenship Department urged Methodists yesterday to refuse to buy British newspapers and magazines that exploit sex and crime.

The committee took exception in a statement to the way some sections of the press handled the Kinsey report and the recent John Reginald Christie murder case.

"The department fully recognizes that the offenders constitute only a minority," the statement said, "and is grateful for the standard which is generally maintained by British journalism."

Recession Seen By Economist

Wellesley, Mass. — A business recession lasting through the first half of next year was predicted yesterday at the 40th annual National Business Conference at Babson Park.

George M. Rideout, economist for Babson's reports, forecast that the last quarter of this year will show a sharp contraction of business that will slide into the first part of 1954. But he said there will be no serious depression.

Two Motor Accidents Occur Here

Two Stroudsburg auto accidents yesterday resulted in damages of over $500, but no one was injured.

The first at 7:55 a. m. occurred on Main St. near Third. Police said Stanley Heller, 318 Main St., pulled out of Kane St. into Main making a left turn. Wheels of his car locked forcing him into a west-bound car operated by J. Kenneth Skelden, 31 Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Heller's car continued diagonally across the street after the crash, climbed the sidewalk and halted against the front of Ann's Dress Shop, 308 Main St.

Damage to Heller's car was set at $150; to Skelden's vehicle, about $270 and to the store front, where a stone tile was broken, about $25.

The second crash at 12:50 p. m. involved three cars.

Police said 19-year-old George S. DeWitt, Mount Bethel RD1, attempted to swerve to avoid a rear collision with a car operated by Vincent W. Shafer, 615 Main St., Stroudsburg. Both cars had just crossed the State Bridge and Shafer was attempting to turn into a diner.

DeWitt hit the rear bumper of the Shafer car and the front bumper of an east-bound car operated by Dale S. Chamberlain, Bethlehem, also stopped to drive into the diner's parking lot.

Damage was set at $90 on the DeWitt car, while the other two vehicles were only slightly damaged.

Man Jailed On Assault, Battery Count

A Canadensis man was committed to county jail last night on a charge of assault and battery.

The charge—filed against Wilbur Heckman, about 35, by his wife, Doris, grew out of an incident alleged to have occurred on Wednesday, Sept. 16, at the couple's home.

Heckman was brought to jail by Barrett Township constable Samuel Everett Sr.

Everett went to the Heckman home on the day of the incident to arrest the man, the constable said last night.

On that morning Heckman asked the constable to let him "go upstairs and change clothes." Everett agreed to do so.

Then Heckman leaped from his bedroom window and escaped arrest. He was missing for nine days.

This week he arrived in Newfoundland, took refuge at a home there. A Newfoundland minister, informed of the case, persuaded Heckman to return to Cresco, give himself up.

Heckman was brought back to Barrett Township. He surrendered to Constable Everett yesterday. The Heckmans have four children.

Only Two Days Left To Register

New voters and those whose eligibility to vote has lapsed may register from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. today at the commissioners' office in the Courthouse, Stroudsburg.

Registration will be carried on "right straight through" the day, Chief Clerk Harry Taylor said yesterday, with no time out for lunch or supper.

Today marks the next-to-last opportunity voters will have to register for the November elections.

Monday's registration—the final one—will be made from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. at the Courthouse.

Democrats held a wide majority last night in registration of voters at the commissioners' office. According to clerks on duty, 13 persons showed up to register. All were Democrats.

Polio Strikes Doctor's Home

Pittsburgh, Pa. — Polio specialist Dr. Robert M. McAllister of Camden, N. J., couldn't give the Pennsylvania Medical Society a scheduled talk on the disease yesterday.

Women's Club Leaders Learn Of Bond Drive

Leaders of a dozen of Monroe County's women's clubs met yesterday at noon to launch the women's Bond-A-Month campaign in the county. Mrs. Walter Logan, women's chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds committee for Monroe County, called the luncheon meeting at Wyckoff's Tea Room.

Ernest H. Wyckoff, Monroe County Savings Bond chairman, introduced Mrs. Stephen Haas of Philadelphia, who is State Women's Chairman.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have both recently emphasized the vital importance of the Savings Bond program to a sound dollar policy, she told the club leaders.

She also emphasized how the reserve of purchasing power which is built up through the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds in Monroe County can act as a safeguard for continued business and economic health in the community.

The clubwomen of the entire county were asked to call on professional and self-employed people throughout the county to sign them up for a U. S. Savings Bond-A-Month plan, available through all local banks.

The clubs who reach 100 per cent in their Bond-A-Month sign-up campaign will receive from the Treasury Department an original color engraving of President Eisenhower's Inaugural Prayer, framed in wood taken from the inauguration platform.

Presidents and representatives of the clubs who attended the meeting included: Mrs. Victor Koch, American Legion Auxiliary to George N. Kemp Post, Mrs. Stanley Sipe, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; Mrs. Lulu B. Harvey, Soroptimists; Mrs. William Brown, Sisterhood of the Temple Israel; Mrs. T. Manning Curtis, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Bernice All, Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Margaret Smith, Bushkill American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Harry Shinnen, president of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs; and the representatives from the four federated clubs: Mrs. Harry Caulfield of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club; Mrs. John W. Sibley, Junior Women's Club; Mrs. Harry Weiss, Progressive Woman's Club of Saylorsburg; and Mrs. Clifford Gillan, of the Barrett Woman's Club.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Getting the women active in the Savings Bonds campaign takes you back, doesn't it? Back to the days of the War Bond rallies, the Stamp drives, the booths on Main Street. Even the name of Elsie Logan has a familiar ring in that connection.

Well, somewhere around the house each of the children has a stamp book, three quarters filled with stamps, but could be filled up. Seriously, though, the Bond-a-month plan is a painless way to save money for yourself, and the government.

The most important thing is to be able to keep on calling them "Savings" Bonds.

Somehow it's always a comfort to me to be able to turn from the local accidents and international incidents on the first page to the news of the social page.

Each story, taken by itself, may be of no world-shaking significance but taking them all in all, they're pretty impressive. Bridal showers and wedding plans, baby showers and birthday celebrations, teenage dances and community endeavors, and golden wedding days.

I'd doubt if the world would get along very well without the events behind the celebrations.

—Liken to Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WYPO, 10-15 a.m.

HURRY HOME—Was the theme of the conversation caught by the photographer who arrived at the shower in honor of Miss Geraldine Werkheiser just as her fiancé called from Camp Atterbury, Ind. With gifts half unwrapped, she was saying, evidently discussing his plans homeward, " . . . I don't know, but you'd better take the first one —brother, you've got plans!"

THE
Wyckoff
SHOPPER

Want to quench your thirst for something different with something warm and amusing? Then try a hot today. Not the liquid variety, either. This particular concoction is sold in the lingerie department and is fashioned of 100% rayon. You've guessed it. Hot Todays are panties, as cute as they are comfortable. Soft, and bulky, these are knit to fit smoothly under skirts of slacks, and you'll wear them both as a participant in, or attendant at, all types of outdoor games. They're wonderful for commuters too, once the thermometer reaches a brisk zero.

They're in wonderful colors, with gloriously provocative names—but at the moment, I forget what they are. And wouldn't you know? —I've lost my notes.

Speaking of those notes, no wonder I've lost them. Such a frenzy of pre-occupation, straightening as I've been through! Every file in the place is up to date, every drawer is meticulously in order, and I can't think of a thing in the world that's been overlooked. As I typed this it just occurred to me that if all this were true everyday, there'd be no incentive to go on a vacation. What about a refund on my tickets, Edna Broekman?

How's your sense of rhythm? It's no longer necessary to take dancing lessons to develop it, you can enjoy it right at the table. Of course, it isn't exactly the same thing. Silver Rhythm is the name of a delightfully new sterling pattern by International, and any bride who owns it will definitely bring home-making on the right note. Silver Rhythm is one of the new contour patterns. You know what I mean, I believe—all the pieces, that should go to the left of the plate curve in one direction; all the pieces to the right curve the opposite way. Just think of the time you'll save studying the Blue Book, when all your "which way" worries are solved in advance. You can see this new pattern at Wyckoff's today where we've stocked four place settings, plus a cold meat fork, serving spoon, butter knife and sugar shell. Make Silver Rhythm a family heirloom—at $35 for a six piece place setting . . . You are coming into the store today, aren't you? Remember, the big Fall Festival of Values continues, and you can harvest plenty of pennies in savings. If it's china and linens you need, we have them. If it's accessories in silver, they're here too. We have specials to delight the sweet tooth and the glamour girl; specials to intrigue Dad and the boys. Just between us, I can't think of anything about Wyckoff's that isn't pretty special anyway, can you? . . . I read somewhere the other day that Loretta Young hasn't washed her hair in years. She dry cleans it. When it stopped growing, Loretta began rubbing bran into it and brushing it out again. The scalp and hair responded, and she now boasts one of the loveliest heads of hair in Hollywood. Hers may be a "bran" new idea, but I still think some of the shampoos in our cosmetics department are better. The Richard Hudnut egg shampoo, for instance—or that giant buy of Revlon's Aquamarine at $1.25 . . . See you later, Say, why don't you make it a dinner date in our Tea Room?

Stroudsburg Powers Way To Verdict Over Emmaus Standings

Weingartner Leads Way With Three Scores

A vastly superior Stroudsburg High School football machine turned Emmaus into its second straight victim of the youthful season last night by a 32-14 count before 2,500 people at Gordon Giffels Field.

The Mountaineers, displaying a powerful forward wall and a smooth brand of ball handling in the backfield, blasted their way into the lead in the first period and held the upper hand for the remainder of the distance.

Karl Weingartner, taking turns at quarterback and fullback, streaked through the entire Emmaus club for three second-half touchdowns that turned the game into a rout.

Don Garaventi, one of the Stroudsburg co-captains, broke the scoring ice midway in the first period when he crashed off tackle for nine yards and a touchdown. Weingartner added the extra point for him.

Stroudsburg marched 76 yards for the opening touchdown, never relinquishing possession of the ball until it hit paydirt. The Mountaineers reeled off five first downs in the downhill drive.

The Mountaineers bounced back into the scoring column midway in the second stanza when Benny Miller went over from the three. Weingartner added the extra point from placement.

Stroudsburg's third six-pointer came in the third period when Weingartner set sail for his first of three touchdowns. The maroon and white clad back broke off tackle for 30 yards for the six-pointer, but the extra point attempt was wide.

Weingartner swept around his own right end for 37 yards and another touchdown seconds before the third period passed into history. He followed up by adding the extra point to make the score read 26-0.

Emmaus rolled to two touchdowns against Stroudsburg's second and third stringers in the fourth period. Baron "Porky" Buss blasted over from the three yard stripe. A pass from Bob Knoll to Roland Houseknecht covered 51 yards and resulted in the final Emmaus touchdown, as Houseknecht raced the last 30 yards into paydirt. Houseknecht added the first extra point from placement and the second on a brilliant run after a bad pass from center.

Weingartner brought the crowd to its feet once again midway in the final period when he raced 41 yards for the last touchdown of the game. The extra point kick was wide of his mark.

ESSTC Meets Millersville In Opening Grid Contest

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will lift the lid on its portion of the 1953 football season today, with Millersville Teachers providing the opposition on the Normal Hill field. The contest is scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m.

Coches Gene Martin and his assistants checked on the team's timing and sent the ESSTC squad through some limbering up exercises during the past two days in preparation for the opening game.

Martin was plainly worried yesterday over the fact that two of his regulars are on the injured list and several secondary players aren't able to operate at full capacity at the present time after being hurt in practice.

It will also mark the first time that an ESSTC athletic squad has ever appeared on television. The Warriors draw big crowds when they play teams like West Chester, but none of the gatherings of spectators ever even approach the 10,000 mark. King's College is joining with the University of Scranton in an effort to stage extra promotions directed at improving attendance at college games in the anthracite region.

High school football in the coal regions goes over very big, but colleges in the same area find it tough to draw even a fair sized crowd. It is quite possible that schools like Scranton, King's and Wilkes will have to drop football unless attendance improves greatly in the next year or two. The crowd for the King's-ESSTC clash should be at least 10,000, as additional tickets will be sold at the various schools. This will be the opening game for King's and the second one for ESSTC.

The East Stroudsburg-Lehigh Junior High School football game originally listed for the latter's home field next Friday has been moved up to Thursday. The move was made at Lehigh's request. Howard Smith, reserve linemen for East Stroudsburg High's grid machine, suffered a painfully injured nose in a scrimmage Thursday afternoon. The nose reportedly isn't broken, but Smith may not be in uniform for today's important clash with Pen Argyl, on the latter's home field.

Many of the East Stroudsburg High football players took part in the initiation of sophomores at the N. Courtland St. school last night. ESSTC is to be complimented on the fine job of publishing brochures for both the football and soccer squads. The job is certainly complete and to the point. Floyd "Blink" Holloway, second baseman for the Eagles who recently suffered a broken leg, is now on the road to recovery and is getting around on crutches. Everyone who knows the likable athlete wishes him a speedy recovery.

George Condrick, winter resident of Tannersville and former pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos, reportedly will pitch in the Little World Series, if Rochester should defeat Montreal in the final series of the International League playoffs. George was recently placed on the inactive list for the International League playoffs, although the big right hander finished the regular campaign with a record of 11 victories and four setbacks.

Fred Oravec, former Palmerton High basketball great, will play with the Mauch Chunk professional basketball team this season. Oravec will long be remembered by Stroudsburg High cage fans for his fine play on the W. Main St. court. Mike DeNoia, former University of Scranton eager who played on the ESSTC court at least twice, is a member of the same Mauch Chunk squad. The Palmerton High field house completed recently cost $230,000.

Two Games In Mountain Loop

Post-season playoff action resumes in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League tomorrow, with each of the two series games getting under way at 2 p. m.

Reeders faces possible elimination from the playoff grind unless the number four club in the final standings can bounce back and defeat Barrett, on the Reeders field.

Last Sunday Barrett scored a 6-2 verdict to take the series lead. Doug Price will probably do the pitching for Barrett, while John

Parnell Blanks Yankees For Fourth Time

New York, (AP) Lefty Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox tamed the World Series bound New York Yankees 5-0 on four singles last night, becoming the first pitcher since Walter Johnson in 1908 to blank the Yankees four times in one season.

Parnell, who only last Saturday tossed a 3-0 whitewash at the Yankees in Fenway Park, out-pitched Bob Kuzava and Tom Gorman as he chalked up victory number 21 to go with eight defeats.

Relief The Sox got to Kuzava for a single run in the first inning and held that slim advantage until the ninth when the visiting club slash-off Gorman for four more rallies.

Kuzava worked the first six frames and Gorman the last three. Ted Williams lashed out a double and single in three trips to the plate and drove home the first run of the ball game.

Parnell's two other shutouts over the Yankees were early in the season. Boston 100 000 004 5 12 0

White Sox Clip Brownies, 7-2

St. Louis, (AP) — Nelson Fox's two-run homer and two-run double helped Bob Keegan gain a 7-2 victory for the Chicago White Sox over the St. Louis Browns last night. The victory, the 87th of the season for Chicago, made Paul Richards' club the "winningest" Sox team since 1920.

Indians Club Tigers, 12-3

Cleveland, (AP) — Slugger Al Rosen took the American League home run lead last night with his 42nd and 43rd as the Cleveland Indians drubbed the Detroit Tigers 12-3 with rookie Dick Tomaneak, a 25-year-old southpaw just up from Indianapolis, on the mound.

Cavaliers Search For Victory Number Three At Pen Argyl

East Stroudsburg High School will leave its home ball yard for the first time this season today, as the Cavaliers invade Pen Argyl, hopeful of bringing home the victory bacon for the third straight time without a setback. The contest, to be played at Weona Park, will get underway at 2 p. m.

The Cavaliers, reported in good physical condition by Coach Jack Kist yesterday, own victories over Hellertown and Slatington thus far this season, scoring both decisions at Memorial Stadium.

Today's outing will be the first of the current campaign for the green and white clad Pen Argyl club that reportedly features a big, strong forward wall and a set of backs that can really eat up yardage when sprung into the open.

East Stroudsburg will answer the starting whistle with virtually the same team that scored favorable verdicts in the only two trips to the post thus far in the campaign.

The opening backfield will feature Joe Chase at quarterback; Harold White, left half; Bernie Fish, right half, and Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, fullback.

Stan Boorstein, hard running back who has yet to appear in action this season because of a chipped ankle bone, may see limited service against Pen Argyl.

East Stroudsburg returns to Memorial Stadium for its next home game next Friday night, with powerful Bangor supplying the opposition.

Haddix, Schoendienst, Musial Lead Cards To Easy Verdict

Chicago, (AP) — Led by "Red" Schoendienst who collected four hits in six turns at bat, the St. Louis Cardinals hammered out an 11-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs yesterday.

Schoendienst now is batting .342, just two points less than the league leader, Brooklyn's Carl Furillo.

Schoendienst and Stan Musial stepped up their pursuit of the National League batting crown, accounting for six of the cards 19 hits.

Big Guns Schoendienst drove in four runs in getting four hits. Musial produced two hits, one of them his 23th home run of the season, and boosted his percentage to .336.

Harvey Haddix became the first Cardinal pitcher to win 20 games since Howie Pollet turned in an identical 20-9 won-lost record in 1949.

Newfoundland Faces Possible Elimination From Pocono Mountain's Association Playoff

Lake Ariel — Gouldsboro, the club they figured would finish in the lowest depths of the Pocono Mountain Association's second division when the season had been less than a month old, has amazed all the sundry since then and now stands on the threshold of the league's playoff championship for 1953. The club needs only to win Sunday to achieve the honor, which would be doubly sweet in that its current rival is Newfoundland, the pennant-winner, and conqueror of Gouldsboro in a previous playoffs, 1947, the only other time that the clubs have met.

Of course, another interesting contest can be expected between the two age-old natural rivals.

Stroudsburg Speedway Opens Sunday Racing

Open competition will feature stock car racing at Stroudsburg Speedway for the balance of the season, as the dustless dirt track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport shifts from Saturday night to Sunday afternoon action.

The move from artificial light to sunlight was made with the comfort of spectators in mind, as night racing was thought to be too cold for fans in the grandstands this late in the season.

Each Sunday through the balance of the season will feature the first of three 10-lap qualifying heats beginning at 2 p. m., to be followed by a 12-lap consolation grind and the main event of 25 laps.

Any stock car drivers wanting to race at Stroudsburg Speedway may do so for the balance of the season without the sanction of any of the many stock car clubs.

A special novice race for amateur drivers will be held tomorrow. The novice grind proved highly popular in the final Saturday night show.

Included in the list of amateurs expected to return to Stroudsburg Speedway tomorrow are "Pappy" Gschell, Easton; Jim Sandt, Easton; Keith Wilfeyer, Bethlehem; Bill Keifer, Bethlehem; Bill Pados, Easton, and Warren Wahn, Easton.

Stroudsburg Speedway plans to feature racing as late into autumn months as the weather permits.

Player Attorney To Attend Meeting

New York City — Attorney J. Norman Lewis said yesterday Commissioner Ford Frick has invited him to sit in on baseball's executive council meeting Monday as the legal representative of Allie Reynolds and Ralph Kiner, the major league players' representatives.

Previously Frick declined to confer with Lewis on an official and legal level.

Bangor Invades Catasauqua

Bangor — Bangor High School will go in search of victory number two without a defeat tomorrow when the Slaters tangle with Catasauqua, on the latter's home field. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 2 p. m.

The Slaters, featuring one of their biggest lines in history and a quartet of fast moving backs, will tangle with a foe that scored a 34-6 victory over Coplay last Saturday.

Bangor opened the season last Friday night with a 27-0 verdict over Palmerton, scoring one touchdown in each of the four periods.

Coach Granville Evans is expected to stick with the same lineup that carried the bulk of the weight against Palmerton last Friday.

This means that the backfield will feature Ed Mugavero at quarterback; Rodney Miller, left half; Jack Finelli, right half, and Mike DeVito, fullback.

The forward wall will be made up of Lou Casciano and Dale LaBar at the end positions; Art Dilly and Ralph Stenlake, tackle; Nick Castellucci and Ray Heaney, guards, and Palmer Cutturo, center.

There will be several changes made in the Bangor lineup when Catasauqua is moving the ball.

The defensive backfield will be headed by Duane Miller.

Law On Labor Relations Must Be Fair

—By Sumner H. Slichter

move this prohibition from certain industries such as construction and the amusement trades where employment is so intermittent that it is difficult or impossible to hold representation elections.

A second improvement suggested by Mr. Durkin is repeal of the provision that employees who strike without giving the 60-day notice now required shall not lose their rights under the Act. This is an unduly harsh penalty which does not apply to employers who lock out their employees in violation of the 60-day notice. Mr. Durkin has also recommended that parties to a collective bargaining agreement shall not be required to bargain over charges or additions to be made before the expiration of the agreement, a change that would promote more stable industrial relations.

But some of Mr. Durkin's proposals would weaken the law. Mr. Durkin recommends that the general counsel of the Labor Relations Board be given discretion whether or not to apply for an injunction against certain types of secondary boycott. The present provision that an injunction may be sought where the investigating officer believes that an illegal secondary boycott is being conducted has helped the enforcement officers to induce unions to cease illegal boycotts. The proposed change would be a backward step.

Some labor practices of unions are not effectively restricted by the Act. Organizational picketing is one. A union, by throwing a picket line around a plant, may cut off delivery of materials and thus may force the employer to join a union that they do not wish to join. The prohibitions against secondary boycotts need strengthening to protect neutrals from being dragged into industrial disputes.

The present law forbids labor organizations from inducing the employees of an employer who is not a party to a labor dispute not to handle the goods of another employer with whom the union has a difference. The law, however, does not prevent the union from directly approaching the neutral employer and through "persuasion" or threats of economic retaliation to induce him not to handle the goods of another employer.

Eliminating the defects from the Taft-Hartley Act is a complicated task that requires careful study. Fortunately, the extensive testimony on the operation of the law gathered by the House and Senate committees of labor last spring should enable the committees to do a good job in drafting amendments. The most important thing to bear in mind is that the law regulating labor relations should be fair and balanced; it should curb the bad practices of unions and employers alike and thus should equally protect the interests of employees, neutrals, the general public, as well as the unions and employers themselves.

Lackawanna Seeks To Place Two On Nickel Plate Board

Washington—Hearings this week before an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner may bring the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad one step closer to indirect expansion of its services from the Eastern seaboard to the Midwest and other regions of the U. S.

Lackawanna is seeking permission to elect two representatives to the board of New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, majority owners of the Nickel Plate stock.

In line with its proposed representation, Lackawanna would also ask permission to own 15 per cent of Nickel Plate stock.

If and when the ICC decision is handed down, history may be made for the D. L. and W. Up to this point the road has not operated into the Midwestern or Western regions of the country.

Over a period of years, Lackawanna has acquired 363,000 shares (about 15 percent) of the Nickel Plate's stock. Lackawanna officials maintain, therefore, that, as a stockholder in the Nickel Plate road, it is entitled to elect two directors to the Nickel Plate board, neither one to be officers or directors of the Lackawanna.

The hearing before the ICC is being pressed, actually, as a test case, since Lackawanna maintains that the commission has no jurisdiction over the same.

Recent discussions concerning the two roads have centered on a possible merger of the D. L. and W. and Nickel Plate.

Lackawanna President Perry M. Shoemaker told the commission that this was not "being pursued" at the present time. Such a merger would not be "financially practicable at present," Shoemaker said.

Application for representation on the Nickel Plate board was filed with the ICC in August, 1952, by Lackawanna. Other companies oppose the bid.

School Pupils Offered New Insurance Plan

Stroudsburg students this year may be covered by an improved insurance policy providing parents sign forms given children to take home this week.

Borough School Superintendent Earl E. Groner said yesterday the insurance policy costs $1.25 per year; covers a wide range of medical and dental needs.

Forms outlining the provisions of the policy were handed out to children this week. The students were asked to take them home to their parents.

The policy contains a $2,000 blanket medical benefit paying "in full" for medical, hospital and dental expenses for all treatment received during the "12-month period" following the accidental injury, if such treatment commences within 60 days after the accident.

No more than $2,000 will be paid out for such expenses, the policy says.

Other benefits include $7,500 for loss of both hands or both feet within 90 days of accident; the same amount for similar loss of one hand and one foot; $5,000 for loss of sight in one eye and one hand or foot; same amount for loss of sight in both eyes; $2,500 for loss of one hand or one foot; $1,000 for loss of sight in one eye.

In addition to these the firm's policy provides for payments ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 for loss of life. A $100 increase is marked for each year the policy is in effect, until it reaches the maximum $1,500.

Students are covered from one hour before school begins to one hour after it is dismissed for the day and during some school-sponsored activities after hours. Most athletic competitions are also covered.
